

Context Audit Survey Results

The Eastern Bypass Study is a "Context Sensitive Solutions" (CSS) project, meaning special attention is given to understanding the social and natural setting (context) of the project area.

The Context Audit chart shown here reflects the CAG members' views on various elements that contribute to the project area's setting. These are the features, or resources, that are seen as especially valuable in making the area an attractive place to live and work.

The members of the CAG spent a good deal of time discussing these resources during one of the CAG meetings. Following the meeting, each member was asked to rank each factor in terms of relative importance.

Presented here are the average rankings for each resource.
